The Family Man

The Adventurous

After completing my schooling from The School KFI, Chennai and my undergrad from Jai Hind College Mumbai, I earned my master's degree from University of Nottingham. In 2008, upon my return, I started working with my father in his family business. By 2010, I took the plunge into entrepreneurship and started my own e-commerce company, namely Magickart Online Pvt Ltd. We were selling premium kitchenware products online. This was something that I thoroughly enjoyed building, as there was no rule book back in those days, and it was an enriching journey. I got an exit from this venture, and I sold the company in late 2018.

Post this exit, I explored new business opportunities and tried my hand at different things. During my time building Magickart, I was exposed to fundraising and private equity. This interest in fundraising and investing in other businesses somehow stayed with me, and in 2021, post the COVID era, I started my own wealth management company. We currently invest in startups and early-stage businesses and actively participate in the capital markets as well. It's been over five years, and it's been a great ride till now.

On a personal front, I'm a very adventurous person who prefers to live life on the edge. A foodie, easy-going, explorer, and committed family man would be some of the phrases that describe me. Priyanka, my wife, who has been through this journey with me, has been a constant source of support and strength, along with my two girls, Himaira and Nitara. All three of them together are the reason for my happiness.

Khushbu Sanghi- A Life Shaped by Art, People, Experiences, and Purpose

I grew up in a close knit joint family, surrounded by conversations, warmth, and people who taught me the value of togetherness. Being the middle child with two siblings shaped me into someone who learned how to listen, adapt, and find joy in the little moments. Even today, some of my happiest memories are being with family, hosting friends, and sharing meaningful moments with the people I love most.

Art found me very early in life. While pursuing my BA in Fine Arts at Stella Maris College, I discovered my love for graphic design and visual storytelling. What began as curiosity slowly became purpose. I went on to pursue a Master's degree from Artlab Madras and another from School of Visual Arts, NYC. New York changed me in many ways. It pushed me out of my comfort zone, shaped my perspective, and helped me grow both personally and professionally.

For the past 18 years, I have been running my strategic branding and advertising firm, Wishbox. The journey has been deeply fulfilling. Over the years, I've had the opportunity to work with clients across industries, building brands rooted in emotion, authenticity, and purpose. I've always believed design is far more than aesthetics. It is about connection and storytelling.

Alongside branding, painting continues to be one of the purest forms of expression in my life. As an artist, I have developed my own contemporary modern style, and every painting I sell contributes towards donations and giving back in some way. That purpose makes the journey even more meaningful.

I am married to the love of my life, Harsh, who is admired by everyone around him for his kindness and intelligence. My family and friends truly make my world feel full and happy. They keep me grounded while encouraging me to dream fearlessly.

Above all, I truly believe life is lived through experiences, and for me, travel has been one of the greatest investments because every place, person, and culture leaves behind something that quietly changes you forever.

District Governor's Official Visit

An evening of fellowship, inspiration, and Rotary spirit

District Governor's Official Visit

An evening of fellowship, inspiration, and
Rotary spirit

The Rotary Club of Madras Magnum was honoured to host the Official Visit of District Governor Rtn. AKS. Vinod Saraogi. From meaningful conversations to shared visions for service, the evening truly reflected the power of Rotary in bringing leaders together for a greater purpose.

Thank you to all the members, guests, and fellow Rotarians who made the evening memorable. Here's to continuing our journey of service above self and creating lasting impact together.

Our members came together for a relaxed and exclusive fellowship brunch at the elegant private dining room of China XO at The Leela Palace.

The afternoon offered the perfect setting for meaningful connections, with excellent cuisine, fine wines, and engaging conversations among fellow members. The warm and intimate atmosphere encouraged members to reconnect, exchange ideas, and enjoy each other's company away from the usual pace of daily life.

Despite many members being away on travel, the event witnessed an impressive turnout, reflecting the strong spirit of fellowship that continues to define our club. The combination of exceptional hospitality, delightful food, and lively discussions made for a memorable gathering enjoyed by all.

Member's Musing

Musings: The Silent Mutiny!

Your mind was not built for change. It was built to keep you alive. For thousands of years, it learned one rule — what is familiar is safe, what is new is danger. That wiring still runs everyone. It is why you defend opinions you no longer fully believe. It is why you snap at someone with a different view (learning internalized and hardwired at your age coupled with your DNA learnings) — not because they are wrong, but because their thinking threatens yours. Most disagreements are not disagreements. They are your mind refusing to be redecorated.

Look back. The boy who believed everyone meant well. The young man who thought hard work alone would be enough. The friend who lost someone and stopped saying "tomorrow" so casually. Each version of you was singed by something — and each time, something inside rearranged itself without your permission. Change happened to you anyway. The only question is whether you led it or followed it.

Picture this. Four men, two pegs in. Sharma vents — "yaar, biwi ko kuch bhi karo, complaint hi rehti hai." Mehta nods — "boss ek number ka idiot hai, company doob jayegi." Iyer sighs — "is desh ka kuch nahi ho sakta, sab chor hai." Bansalstares into his glass — "life bahut monotonous ho gayi haiyaar, kuch interesting karna hai." Everyone agrees. Everyone orders another peg.

Same table. Same complaints. Same men. For ten years.

The wife has not changed. The boss has not changed. The country has not changed. Neither have they. Nobody at that table is unhappy with the world. They are unhappy with the lens. And the lens is the one thing they refuse to touch and clean to change their vision. Red lens se duniya red hi lagegi.

Change begins the day you whisper to yourself — this is not working. Not loudly. Not to anyone else. Just honestly. Everything else flows from that one sentence.

Look at the version of you from ten years ago. Would he recognise you? Would he be proud, or quietly disappointed? And the version ten years from now — is he being shaped by your choices, or just by the current?

Think.
